

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE

P. O. Box 7882 Madison, WI 53707-7882

TO: Senate Committee on Judiciary and Public Safety
FROM: Senator Luther Olsen & Representative Rob Hutton
DATE: Thursday, January 7, 2016
SUBJECT: Testimony for Senate Bill 500

Thank you Chairman Wanggaard and members of the Senate Committee on Judiciary and Public Safety for holding a hearing and allowing us to testify in support of Senate Bill 500. This is an important piece of legislation that focuses on the victim of a crime and ensures restitution payments are made a priority.

In the criminal justice system, "restitution" means payment by an offender to a victim for harm caused by the offender's wrongful acts. Restitution can cover any out-of-pocket losses directly relating to the crime, which includes: medical expenses, therapy or counseling costs, prescription drug charges, lost or damaged property, insurance deductibles, crime-scene clean up, loss of wages, or any other expense that resulted directly from the crime.

Victims are granted the right to restitution by both Wisconsin's Constitution and through our state laws. However, when an offender is placed on probation, the Department of Corrections may collect supervision fees from offenders prior to collecting full restitution for victims according to current law. On January 2nd, 2015, Wisconsin's former Attorney General J.B. Van Hollen, issued a formal opinion expanding upon this point:

Neither the Wisconsin Constitution, statutes, nor the administrative code prohibits supervision fees from being collected when court-ordered restitution obligations remain outstanding. Therefore, DOC may lawfully collect supervision fees from an offender before court-ordered restitution is paid in full.

As we mentioned in our co-sponsorship memo for this legislation, a recent Brown County case helps explain why Senate Bill 500 makes important changes to Wisconsin's laws. In this case, the defendant was convicted of causing great bodily harm by operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. At sentencing the judge ordered the defendant to pay restitution to the victim. By the end of the sentence, the victim had received one-third of all payments made by the offender and the Department of Corrections had received the rest.

It is important to note that restitution serves a purpose for not only crime victims, but also criminal offenders. For victims of crime, it has been found that full restitution, in the amount of a victim's total losses, is a critical step in a victim's recovery. Restitution is also an effective rehabilitative tool for offenders because restitution payments force defendants to concretely confront and take responsibility for the harm they have caused.

Ultimately, we do not believe that Wisconsin's government should collect its payments before crime victims are made whole because victims should not have to essentially pay for the Department of Corrections' Community Corrections Program. Too many victims of crime are not receiving the full restitution that they are due and we believe Wisconsin can do better for crime victims by making restitution payments a priority.

Senate Bill 500 puts crime victims first, and it also makes changes to restitution payments in order to make this process more effective, efficient, and easier for victims. These changes include: codifying that the Department of Corrections and counties can use the tax intercept tool to collect owed restitution for victims, allows for collection of restitution from wages earned while incarcerated, and requires renewal of wage garnishments only if the offender changes jobs not every 13 weeks.

Our offices have worked in conjunction with the Attorney General, the Department of Justice, and Victim Advocates to create this legislation. We believe these changes provide meaningful reform to help victims and provide a better opportunity for offenders to pay back those they have harmed. Thank you members, we ask for your support of Senate Bill 500 and we would be more than happy to answer any questions.
